 MULTICAP®

What is COCA?

Multicap's Centre of Creative Art (COCA) is an active program that offers people experiencing disability opportunities to develop their creative abilities and potential.

The program features a variety of visual, tactile and performing arts modules facilitated by professional artists in community hubs throughout Queensland.

COCA promotes the work of artists with complex needs that is integral to the artistic and cultural life of Australia. This is achieved by setting up pathways from arts training to social enterprise, encouraging participants to work independently and collaborate with others.

Theatre and Film

Perform in front of an audience or be filmed. Participants develop techniques in expressing ideas physically and writing their own short work. Performers will interact with each other and develop social bonds.

Public Art

Participants are guided as part of a team, to create large scale artworks that will be installed in public spaces such as festivals, public buildings and parks.

Painting

Focus on acrylic and watercolour compositions on paper and canvas. Participants develop their own style and learn techniques of framing, writing artist statements, pricing work and installing work in galleries and other exhibition spaces.

Creative Movement

Develop flexibility, rhythm and performance skills. Participants use their body to express emotions and communicate ideas and feelings in a structured program. This includes improvisation, responding to music and documenting each other using video.

Ceramics

Experience a range of clay experiences from coil pots and slab tiles to handmade sculptures and jewellery. Participants learn decorating and glazing techniques and observe the firing process in a supportive environment.

Printing

A great entry module for beginners to get used to using paints and dyes on paper and fabric. Participants experiment with vegetable and paper prints and advance to using printing foam and silk screens creating useful and decorative items for their rooms.

Eco-Arts

Use fine motor skills to create sculptural work for gardens. Boost awareness of environmental and ecological issues in community while developing beautiful spaces for customers and visitors to relax and enjoy art work outside.

Textiles

Develop skills in macrame, weaving, hand sewing and fabric sculptures. Participants create individual items such as cushions, bags and jewellery and can also work in a group to design and produce large pieces for public spaces.

Collage

Suitable for all skill levels, participants devise compositions using images, coloured paper and recycled prints. This can then become 3D sculptures and objects.
